Completely agree with this and sometimes we just need a reminder.

PLEASE SHARE WITH YOUR COMMUNITIES!

As communities we have amazing power, however we choose to give our power away to everyone, including the criminals.

No one knows our communities better than the community members, who belongs, and who doesn't. What range roads/oil sites/lease roads are in our communities, for residents or business related activities.

Who drives what and when they leave for work, or what is happening in the community depending on the season.

We also know the fastest, and easiest way (shortcuts) through our communities. We also know who is alone, who is having issues with their children and who needs assistance.

We also know and are very confident in asking why others are in our communities and what business do they have.

I do a lot of programs on crime prevention, and when a community puts its foot down that it will not tolerate crime, it can have a bigger impact than law enforcement will ever have.

As the post states, "I do a lot of programs on crime prevention", however, when a community puts its foot down and operates out of concern and ownership, not fear, things begin to change making a bigger impact than all the law enforcement in the world could make.
