

Red Deer RCMP look for public assistance to identify carjacking suspect

Update – Arrest made

Posted November 23, 2016

Red Deer RCMP have arrested the man believed responsible for the carjacking of a taxi on November 17.

Shortly before 1 pm on November 21, RCMP received a report that the suspect in the November 17 armed robbery of a taxi driver and subsequent vehicle theft was in a gas station on Ross Street. RCMP officers attended the location immediately and arrested the suspect without incident.

19 year old Anthony Csordas of Red Deer faces the following charges:

- Criminal Code 344(1)(b) – Robbery while armed with offensive weapon
- Criminal Code 88(1) – Possession of weapon for purpose of committing an offence

Csordas will appear in court in Red Deer on December 20 at 9:30 am.
